TIPS

for reading Latin

Read the sentence or passage completely. In order to see all the words in context, reread as needed.

While reading, register the word endings and their relationship to one another. Reread as needed.

Now look up unfamiliar words. Reread as needed.

Recognize word groups and read them in sequence.

Reread as needed.

Once a subordinate clause or phrase has begun, it must be completed before the rest of the sentence can proceed.

Reread as needed.

Translate only when you know how a sentence works and what it means.
