

INTERESTED IN TEACHING LATIN? COLLOQUĀMUR DĒ LATĪNĀ DOCENDĀ!

INFORMATION SESSION
FOR PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS

■ Wednesday, March 3, 4:30-6 pm, 222 Park Hall (Alexander Room) ■

(If we are blessed with more attendees than 222 will hold, look on the door to 222 for the alternate Park Hall room.)

A question-and-answer session for undergraduate and graduate students who wish to know more about opportunities for teaching Latin in middle- or high-school, how to prepare, how to find a job, how to compose a resume, etc. Several new and veteran Latin teachers and school personnel will be present to answer questions, as will Classics professors Keith Dix and Rick LaFleur, both of whom have extensive experience working with current and prospective secondary-school teachers.

Refreshments will be served, and there will be a drawing for NLTRW t-shirts and mugs.

NATIONAL LATIN TEACHER RECRUITMENT WEEK: NLTRW

Held annually the first week of March and co-sponsored by the American Classical League, the American Philological Association, the UGA Department of Classics, and UGA's chapter of Eta Sigma Phi.
